Confidence jumps

- Consumer confidence gained 4.6% last week, one of the highest increases in the last three months. Even more encouragingly, the increase in sentiment was broad-based with all the subindices gaining.
- 'Current finances' gained 1.3%, while 'future finances' gained 2.7% and remains the only subcomponent above the neutral level of 100.
- 'Current economic conditions' continued with the momentum seen in the last week, gaining a further 13.1% to be up 25% over the two weeks. 'Future economic conditions' rose 3.9% for its third straight weekly gain.
- 'Time to buy a household item' gained 6.4%. 'Inflation expectations' declined by 0.1ppt to 3.2% (four-week moving average).

ANZ-Roy Morgan Consumer Confidence and inflation expectations

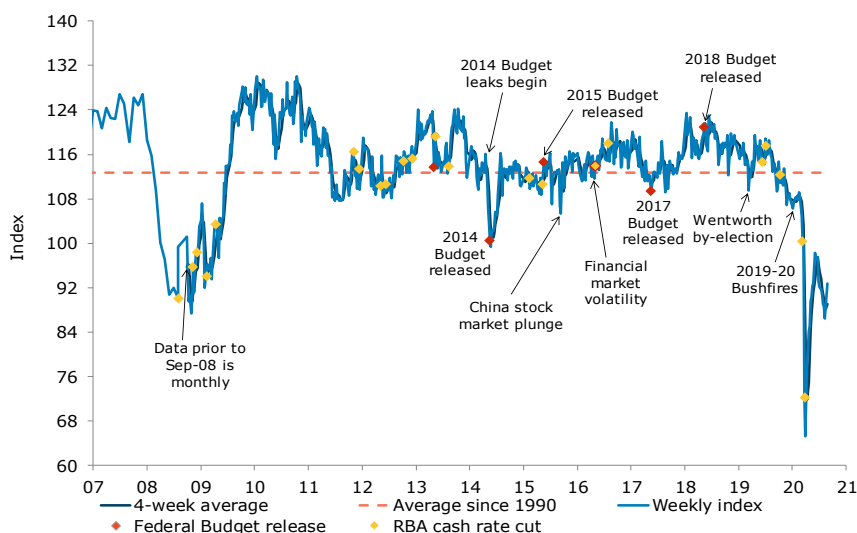

Last weekend (22-23 Aug)	Weekly change, %	Four-week average	Monthly average since 1990	Inflation expectations (four-week ma)
92.7	4.6%	89.1	112.7	3.2%

This weekly ANZ-Roy Morgan Australian Consumer Confidence Rating is based on 1,547 interviews conducted online and over the telephone on the weekend. Not seasonally adjusted. Further data history on page 6.

ANZ Head of Australian Economics, David Plank, commented:

In an encouraging development consumer confidence built on the gain seen in the previous week, with the strongest weekly gain for some time. The substantial decline in active cases in Melbourne and continued low numbers in Sydney have raised hopes that the pandemic can be contained without a broadening of lockdowns beyond those already in place. Although only one subcomponent is above the neutral level of 100, the gains made in the last two weeks have bought other subcomponents closer to that point, though 'current economic conditions' is still 38% below the neutral level. Confidence was up firmly across all states except Victoria and NSW, where the gains were more subdued. Sentiment is now above neutral in Perth and Adelaide.
