ANZ December 2013 Interest Rate Review

ANZ today announced variable interest rates for Australian retail home loans and small business lending will remain unchanged after its December interest rate review. ANZ's standard variable home loan rate remains at 5.88%pa (5.98%pa comparison rate).

ANZ's monthly interest rate review will in future focus only on variable home loan rates. Business loans for small business will be aligned to ANZ's separate review process for corporate and commercial banking clients, with any changes advertised nationally.

ANZ's next interest rate review for variable rate home loans will take place in February 2014.
