ANZ named most trusted adviser at 2024 ACTA awards

ANZ today announced its Institutional business has once again been named Most Trusted Adviser in the annual Australian Corporate Treasury Association (ACTA) awards, based on the 2024 large corporate relationship banking survey conducted by Coalition Greenwich.

The Bank was also named equal-first for Best Bank for Environmental, Social, and Governance (ESG) / Sustainability, as well as equal-first for Best Bank for Transactional Banking.

ANZ Managing Director Institutional Australia and PNG Tammy Medard said: "It is always an honour to be recognised favourably by our clients, but particularly in the category of Most Trusted Adviser. At ANZ, we see trust at the core of any partnership, and it is the basis of how we build relationships with our partners and our clients. This recognition is a testament to our dedicated team who consistently deliver support, insights and reliable funding to our clients.

"I am also very proud to see the targeted investments that we have made into our Transaction Banking and Sustainability businesses be recognised as leading in the Australian marketplace. At ANZ, we see it paramount to offer the full suite of innovative and forward-thinking products and insights for our clients. These three awards are a great indication that we're hitting the mark for our clients."

On being named as equal leading provider for ESG / Sustainability at the 2024 awards for the third year running ANZ Head of Sustainable Finance Katharine Tapley said: "It's pleasing to once again be recognised by the market as a leading ESG bank. At ANZ, we are always striving to improve our offering and expertise to support clients as they embrace opportunities in the transition to net zero emissions."

On being named as equal-first for Best Transactional Bank, ANZ Managing Director Transaction Banking Lisa Vasic said: "It's a competitive market for transaction banking and we've made it a priority to develop our business into a leading provider of these important services. This latest market recognition encourages us to continue developing our capability for the ultimate benefit of our clients."

Coalition Greenwich, a division of Crisil, and formerly known as Peter Lee & Associates, announced the awards at the annual ACTA conference held in Sydney on Thursday evening.
